I disagree with the tearing apart of Microsoft. It seems if anyone in the U.S. comes up with a wonderful invention there is always someone who is jealous of them. They want a part of it & so they sue. Look at A.T.T. the little companys wanted a part of them. So they sued every time they started to go bankrupt. They also use the Bell Co. lines at very little cost. Do you think we could go into McDonalds & rent their grills for very little money? I don't think sooooo. It's time to tell the sue happy people to crawl back in their holes. If they can't come up with good ideas of their own, don't let them sue & steal from the Co.'s that are contributing to the economy. Let Microsoft alone, they are the creative Company.
